KENNETH LONERGAN'S
THE WAVERLY GALLERY

DIRECTED BY
LILA NEUGEBAUER

A spirited social activist grandmother who owns an art gallery in Greenwich Village is in her final battle against Alzheimer's disease. Academy Award® winner Kenneth Lonergan's memory play, a 2001 Pulitzer Prize finalist, delves into her fight to hold on to her independence and the effect of her decline on her family. Both amusing and poignant, it captures the humor and strength of a family in crisis.

Starring Academy Award® nominee Elaine May, half of the legendary comedy duo, Nichols and May, Academy Award® nominee Lucas Hedges (Manchester by the Sea), Academy Award® nominee and Tony winner Joan Allen (Burn This) and Tony nominee Michael Cera (Lobby Hero), "one of the best American plays in years" (The New York Times) is directed by Drama Desk and Obie Award winner Lila Neugebauer.
